

TRAFFIC SEMAPHORES INSTALLED DOWN TOWN

Twenty-five Signal Standards Put Into Operation by Police.

Semaphores at twenty-five crossings were put in operation yesterday by the Police Department for the benefit of all classes of vehicles and automobiles.

At night directions are given by lights, a red one meaning "stop," and a green meaning "go." In the day time the arms of the machines, on which are painted in large letters "go" and "stop," are used.

The double trackage system in use at Fourteenth street and New York avenue and at Fifteenth street and New York avenue will not permit the use of the semaphores.

"The arms and lights are big enough for a blind man to see," said a policeman who operates one at a principal downtown point, yesterday. "We've been using them all day and most of the traffic pays attention to them."
